After getting bail in 'preferential treatment in jail' case

Sasikala on temple run

Guarded by 30 security men, she brings her own media team from TN

V.K. Sasikala, the close aide of late TN CM Jayalalithaa, visits Nimishamba, Chamundeshwari and Srikanteshwara temples

Mysuru / Nanjangud, Mar.12 (VK,CM&BCT)- A day after a Special Court in Bengaluru granted bail to former AIADMK leader V.K. Sasikala — a close aide of late Tamil Nadu Chief Minister J. Jayalalithaa — in connection with a case alleging preferential treatment to her in prison, she is on a temple run in Mysuru District.

The court also granted bail to Sasikala's sister-in-law J. Ilavarasi. The two were named in the chargesheet filed by the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) of Karnataka. While yesterday Sasikala, accompanied by Ilavarasi, visited Nimishamba Temple at Ganjam in Srirangapatna, this morning she visited Sri Chamundeshwari Temple atop Chamundi Hill and later offered prayers at Srikanteshwaraswamy Temple in Nanjangud.

Sources told Star of Mysore that after the Court hearing where she secured bail, Sasikala and Ilavarasi drove to Mysuru and visited Nimishamba Temple During a visit to Nimishamba three years ago, Sasikala had reportedly taken a vow that she would visit the Temple again.

Cops respond to 21,227 distress calls in 2 years

Control Room staff trace the location details of '112' Emergency Response vehicles and also the place where the vehicle needs to be sent. Picture right shows DCP Pradeep Gunti and ACP Mohan supervising the operation at '112' Control Room.

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (GA&BCT)- City Police have clocked one of the best response times to distress calls and the average time taken by the emergency rescue teams to reach a place is just 10 minutes. '112' teams have responded to 21,227 emergency calls in two years and have saved human lives and properties.

'112' is a one-stop-shop solution to all emergency situations on the lines of '911' in the United States of America. Be it the telephone line or the app, they are an all-in-one application that can be used to raise an SOS alert in any emergency — be it medical, fire, Police or something else.

The system has been developed as part of Government of India's Emergency Response Support System (ERSS) initiative, whose main agenda is to make the required support readily available to citizens in need. There are 20 vehicles dedicated to '112' services in city and the teams function 24x7. The staff take duties on rotation. There are no holidays and usually, the 20 vehicles are on rounds in different areas. No vehicle is concentrated in a single area and the vehicle route coverage extends to the length and breadth of the city Police Commissionerate.

One Assistant Sub-Inspector (ASI) and one cop will always be present in the vehicle and they are constantly on the rounds. The service goes a long way in improving the safety of citizens.

(See CALLS on page 7)

Good response from women

Every day, we get over 50 to 55 calls. There is a good response from women as they call during emergencies and when there is a fight in the neighbourhood. Generally, fights build up and lead to crimes and these women have helped the Police to quell the fight in the initial stage itself. We ensure that we reach the distress callers within 10 minutes. Our personnel are sensitive and empathetic towards the caller.

— Pradeep Gunti, Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order)

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

We were in power in four States, and we have come back to power in all of them. The people have given the BJP a clear mandate on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's good governance, development and pro-poor schemes, which has actually worked in the favour of BJP. Every sector, every section and every factor is important for us. We can't say one segment has worked in favour of the BJP. We have done development across all segments in Uttar Pradesh, from West to East. If you look at Eastern Uttar Pradesh, you could see the work that has been done. From the fertiliser plant to AIIMS, from the cancer hospital to the expressway, from airports to ports — all of these have been done in the last five years. The Congress has always spoken of the Look East policy, we have the Act East policy. And that has helped us.

We will form a Government in Punjab. We've done it in the past. Whether it is in Assam, or in Haryana, we have contested elections on our own and formed the Government. We can do it in Punjab as well, in the coming years. The only issue this time was that we did not have enough time because our coalition partner of the last four decades left us just months before the elections. But I can assure you, the way we work at the grassroots level, we will win Punjab after five years. — Anurag Thakur, Union Minister for Information and Broadcasting and the party's co-incharge for Uttar Pradesh in Deccan Herald

Romantic relationship with toy plane

Budapest: A 28-year-old woman from Hungary named Sandra, claims to have shunned romantic relationships with other humans to be with a toy plane that she has fallen madly in love with.

Sandra has had a thing for airplanes for as long as she can remember and that fascination stayed with her all through her teenage years. As an adult, she managed to get a job in the aviation industry so she could be surrounded by planes every day. But it wasn't until she met 'Luffancs,' a plastic plane model, that she realised she could become romantically involved with a plane. In January of this year, after breaking up with her last human boyfriend, Sandra bought the toy plane for around 600 euros (660 dollars) and became madly in love with it.

"I don't know why I love him, I just love him," the 28-year-old woman from Budapest said.

Amelia Earhart's helmet sells for 8,25,000 dollars!

New York: A leather helmet that American aviator Amelia Earhart wore on a flight across the Atlantic in 1928 and later lost in a crowd of fans in Cleveland has sold at auction for 8,25,000 dollars.

The helmet went to an anonymous bidder in an online-only sale, a spokesperson for Heritage Auctions said.

The seller was Anthony Twiggs, a 67-year-old Minnesotan, who had tried for years to prove that the leather aviator's helmet he inherited from his mother was really Earhart's.

Photos shot before and after the flight show her wearing a jaunty leather helmet or flight cap. Earhart wore the same helmet the following year in the Women's National Air Derby, an all-female race from Santa Monica, California, to Cleveland. Thousands of spectators greeted the famous aviator when she landed her single-engine Lockheed Vega at the Cleveland airfield and she lost the helmet in the crowd.

- Newborn puppy eyes open only at 10 to 14 days old: This is because dogs are an altricial species and puppies are born in a helpless state. Unlike precocial species such as horses, cows and sheep, dogs depend on their moms entirely for several weeks after being born. On top of being unable to regulate their body temperatures and being unable to eliminate without mother dog's assistance, newborn puppies are also born deaf and blind.

Woman murdered over rotten tomatoes in Mysuru

Accused father and son arrested in Tamil Nadu

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (RK&BCT)- The city Police have arrested a father and his son for allegedly murdering a woman for throwing rotten tomatoes on roadside.

They were arrested by the Udayagiri Police from Dharmapuri in Tamil Nadu, their hideout.

Girish alias Giri, 29 and his father Shivaraj, 57, of K.N. Pura near Kyathamaranahalli here were on the run for one month and were hiding in several places in Bengaluru, Kerala and Chamarajanagar before they were finally traced and nabbed in Tamil Nadu.

Girish and his father Shivaraj

On Feb. 2, 30-year-old Sunitha, wife of Vijaykumar of Vinayaka Road in Kyathamaranahalli, was allegedly attacked with a sharp weapon by Giri and Shivaraj, her neighbours.

They also assaulted her mother Bharathi, a street vendor, when she tried to rescue her daughter from being attacked. Sunitha died due to the impact of the attack. Police said that Girish and his father Shivaraju, who live opposite their house, picked up a quarrel, asking Sunitha and Bharathi not to throw rotten tomatoes near their house.

Bharathi sells tomatoes near M.G. Road and also runs a small shop near the house, where she also sells tomatoes.

Soon after Shivaraj objected to Bharathi throwing rotten tomatoes by the side of the road, a wordy duel ensued between them and an enraged Girish picked up a machete (long) and attacked Sunitha and Bharati. His father Shivaraj is said to have provoked Girish.

Following instructions from the City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, DCP (Law and Order) Pradeep Gunti and Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP) M.N. Shashidhar had formed a special team to probe the case.

The team was led by Inspector P.K. Raju and comprised Sub-Inspectors (SIs) Sunil and Nagaraj Nayak, staff Shankar, Siddique Ahmed, Somashekar, Puttaraju, Gopal, Anand, Rathod, Mohan Kumar, Shivarajappa and Sameera.

City advocate found dead by hanging

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (RK&DM)- A lady advocate was found dead by hanging at her residence in Ramakrishnanagar early this morning. Chandrakala Alagundi (32), a Member of Mysore Bar Association, is the deceased.

Chandrakala, a native of Gadag and a practicing advocate of the city, had married one Pradeep, a divorcee and a resident of Ramakrishnanagar three years ago, in what is said to be a love marriage and the couple had a year old child.

Chandrakala Alagundi

But Chandrakala was found hanging at her residence in the early hours of this morning and was rushed to a nearby hospital, where she was declared brought dead. Domestic disharmony is said to be the reason for Chandrakala's extreme step.

However, Chandrakala's elder sister J. Latha, a Government employee and a resident of Mysuru, who suspected it to be case of murder, has lodged a complaint with the Police accusing Chandrakala's husband Pradeep, father-in-law Venkatesh and mother-in-law Rajalakshmi of harassing her younger sister for dowry and killing her.

Based on the complaint, Kuvempunagar Police have registered a case in this regard and are investigating.

Two riders killed, one injured in separate road accidents

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (RK,SBD&KS)- Two riders were killed in separate road accidents in city on Wednesday.

Bharath

In the first case, a 35-year-old man was killed when another two-wheeler collided head-on with his bike on Gaddige Road on the outskirts of city on Wednesday night.

The deceased is Bharath, son of Ramakrishna and a resident of Manchegowdanakoppal in city.

On Wednesday night, Bharath was proceeding to Bettadabeedu village on his Hero Honda Passion Pro bike and when he neared Madalli village on Gaddige Road, a Bajaj Pulsar bike, which came from the opposite direction collided head-on with his bike. Due to the impact, both the bikes were dragged to a distance of about 30 ft., witnesses told the Police.

Bharath, who suffered serious injuries near his right thigh and bleeding profusely, was rushed to Apollo BGS Hospital and was later shifted to Suyog Hospital, where he succumbed to injuries Thursday morning, Police said.

The Bajaj Pulsar bike rider, who too sustained injuries in the accident, is undergoing treatment at Bridhavan Hospital.

The body of Bharath was shifted to MMC&RI mortuary, where post-mortem was conducted and the body was handed over to the family members. Yelwal Police have registered a case.

In the second case, a watchman died of serious head injuries he had sustained after he lost control of his bike and hit a road divider near R.T. Nagar Circle on Wednesday evening.

The deceased is Jadeyappa, son of Krishnappa and a resident of P.G. Palya near Hanur in Chamarajanagar district.

Though Jadeyappa was rushed to a hospital, he succumbed to injuries at the hospital.

K.R. Traffic Police, who have registered a case, said that if Jadeyappa had worn a helmet he would have saved his life.

Due to severe head injuries and profuse bleeding, Jadeyappa breathed his last, the Police added.

Ropeway to Chamundi Hill: A costly toy?

Sir,

This has reference to the article on ropeway by Bhamy V. Shenoy in Star of Mysore dated Mar. 9.

The article clearly, elaborately, pointwise, describes the needlessness of a costly project called the ropeway.

The format of the article, basic question and answer type, makes it crystal clear to anyone, why it is foolish to install an ugly contraption amidst beautiful green surroundings. It is basic to undertake a need survey in order to formulate a problem statement, many solutions to which will be synthesised to design a viable and cost-effective working system to solve any major issue affecting the public.

It appears no such survey has been conducted and the fanciful ropeway is just a 'costly toy' conceived by some neta at the cost of taxpayers' expense. If indeed the netas want to attract tourists with something new in the form of a ropeway, they can construct a small working model to be viewed by those interested in something new, just on the lines of Rail Museum at the same venue which also enhances the attraction to the museum.

Hope better sense will prevail on those who are bent upon vandalising the serene and delicate Hill surroundings.

AAP, up and away...

The rise of the Mango people

Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Chief and Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal with AAP's Punjab Chief and Chief Ministerial candidate Bhagwant Mann.

BJP's poll performance in four States was impressive but Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) victory in Punjab was exceptional. This AAP victory reminds us of the saying — "First they ignore you, then they laugh at you, then they fight you, then you win."

Many may remember in 2013, the two National Parties — BJP and Congress — first ignored AAP. The BJP President back then, Nitin Gadkari, laughed them off as a 'chillar party.' The present Congress General Secretary, Priyanka Gandhi's husband, Robert Vadra, mocked them as 'Mango People' (aam aadmi). Soon all politicians dared them to fight an election. Then they did. And Mangoes won.

In 2013, Aam Aadmi Party gave Congress and BJP a good Mango shake and woke them up in Delhi. In 2022, all parties got an Extra Large Mango shake in Punjab. Aam Aadmi Party got three times more seats than all of the other parties put together! An 'aam-amazing' feat!

AAP is slowly becoming the viable alternative in the small States. Voters in smaller States feel AAP can usher in real change. Change that makes a positive difference to their daily lives. Punjab has seen what AAP has done for its neighbour Delhi. And it wants the same.

Like other political parties, AAP also entices voters with freebies, but it's not with products like cooker, mixer or sari but with services. In Delhi, up to 200 units of electricity and water up to 20,000 litres are free. There is free Wi-Fi and free buses for women. But most importantly, AAP made Government Schools as good as Private Schools. And when you make life better for the children, you have their parents' vote.

AAP also delivers services as a private corporation does. To do that, it keeps its staff up to date and well-trained as private companies do. Unlike other States, teachers in Delhi get the same facilities during training as civil servants do!

Unlike other States where the Cabinet Ministers go on junkets, in Delhi, Government School Principals are sent abroad for training. Over 300 Principals were sent to Cambridge University for training. And 26 percent of the Delhi Government's budget is for education — the highest in the country. Also, they have successfully adopted Mohalla Clinics.

This kind of service is what Punjab wants. So they've voted AAP. Or...was AAP's victory fluke? A lucky strike when all other parties were in 'self-destruct' mode?

Indeed the BJP's implementation of the farm laws, mishandling of the subsequent protests, the Congress Party's infighting and the corruption of Shiromani Akali Dal, all created a void of credible, stable and honest governance, a gap which AAP easily fit into, but... Punjab was going to vote for AAP one day or another.

Many may remember AAP always had an eye on Punjab. And Punjab has continuously been teasing AAP. Within a year of forming the Government in Delhi in 2013, the AAP contested in Punjab and won four seats. They didn't do well on the next outing, but they managed to become the principal Opposition in the State.

In 2017 again, they had a good chance, but the lack of clarity about the Chief Ministerial face and reports of allegations of its affinity with Khalistani elements ruined their chances. But by 2022, AAP had refocused on "service" as they did in Delhi and won.

Also, AAP used a similar strategy as BJP, which deploys a "tri-issue" strategy that pleases most voters: First — Religion for the right-leaning - Hindutva; Second — Nationalism for the "ultra-patriotic" - Atmanirbhar and Third — Development for all - Sabka Vikas.

AAP is adopting a similar script, albeit with a difference. BJP is like a big-budget blockbuster production of this tri-issue storyline, which is hugely successful. AAP is a small budget indie movie with a mellow tri-issue storyline that is critically acclaimed and quite successful.

Why this comparison? Well, BJP's use of religion is more aggressive and vitriolic. In contrast, AAP soft-sells it, like Kejriwal's visit to Ayodhya, then Gurudwara and then attending Eid event in Delhi's Saket. Like BJP shows its "nationalism with air-strikes and scrapping of Article 370," AAP has modest Tiranga Yatras in Noida and Lucknow. Then, of course, the BJP has the Gujarat development model, while AAP has the Delhi model.

But there is one difference: AAP leadership, while being "caste conscious," is more secular than BJP. While BJP has large development projects and schemes, AAP provides essential services very effectively and efficiently — be it electricity or education.

But can they replicate it in larger States? Not for a few years. AAP must concentrate on small States because it's still nascent with limited financial prowess and party cadre. So it needs to win and manage a few smaller States before taking on monster-sized States like UP, Maharashtra or Karnataka.

For me, AAP victory is vindication because I was mocked in 2014 when I wrote that AAP must be credited for changing the tone of politics, rejuvenating public participation in Indian politics and re-infusing a sense of idealism and hope into Indian politics that had vanished.

I also added, "to stay alive and relevant, they first have to learn to govern the small States... and then they can very well become the perfect alternative to Congress." And they are so today.

In 10 years, this small party today rules our capital and the critical border State of Punjab. It has also opened its account in Goa by winning three seats and will try the same in Himachal Pradesh soon.

As AAP celebrates its success, one can't help but recall Kejriwal's prophetic reply to arrogant, elitist Congress Party's damad Robert Vadra's mango man tweet in 2012. He had said, "One day mango men will prove to be the nemesis of the powerful."

And today, 10 years later, a Mobile Shop owner Labh Singh of AAP defeated the Congress Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi in Bhadaur Assembly Constituency. AAP has wiped out the powerful Badal family and reduced the BJP to 2 seats. The Mango people are here to stay.

Even if AAP's victory is a fluke this time, if AAP can deliver on the campaign slogan 'Ik Mauka AAP Nu' (Give AAP one chance), we may see another term for AAP in Punjab like in Delhi. And then Goa too may give them a chance and then Himachal too may follow. It seems, the march of the Mango people has begun, one small State at a time.

Cops respond to 21,227 distress calls

No jurisdictional barriers

These 20 emergency vehicles do not have any boundaries as dictated by Police jurisdictions and all the instructions are passed directly to the teams from the City Police Commissioner's Office.

As soon as someone calls 112, the teams reach there in 10 minutes and speak to the distressed person or the family. If it is a fire incident, the fire brigade is summoned and if the nature of the emergency is hospitalisation, the victims will be shifted to hospitals immediately.

If the nature of the call is to resolve disputes, the matter is settled on the spot after discussion with the aggrieved parties. If the dispute persists and if the warring parties do not come to a settlement, then the jurisdictional Police would be involved and at the same time, the caller is informed too about the development.

Control Room control

The calls to 112 are received by Control Room staff who first assess the nature of the complaint and then the emergency response teams in the locality would be intimated. The caller is identified through GPS location and even if the caller is unable to speak due to the emergency, his location is traced and help is ensured.

As soon as a call is received at the Control Room, the call is traced through the GPS location and the logbooks are entered on the nature of the emergency, time of the call, the caller identity if established and other details and alerts are issued to the respective 112 vehicles. These logbooks are properly documented and are submitted for review by senior Police officers.

Systems have been set up in all the 20 vehicles too to receive messages, summon for more forces or other emergency services. The vehicle movements are tracked through GPS and there is a constant communication between the Control Room and the personnel in the vehicle.

Just tap the button on phone

112 features a simple-to-use interface with no fancy elements. It has buttons for 4 major emergency alert (panic alert) options — fire, medical, police and other — placed at the bottom of the app and a Google Map with a pin to pinpoint the location of the user.

All four options have a single tap command execution, which means users just need to tap on the button and the app knows what to do. Once the panic alert is pressed on the app, the location is traced and the user gets a call. Even if the user is unable to attend the call, emergency teams will reach his/ her place based on the location details.

There are other options in the app, such as Volunteer and Emergency Inbox that help users track the progress of the incident and emergency services delivered. The emergency service cell can also be reached through https://ka.erss.in/ website and those in distress can e-mail erss*112ktk@ksp.gov.in

Her close aides said that Sasikala and her family members visited the Temple at 3.50 pm and fulfilled the vow after performing special rituals. She was guarded by a posse of over 30 security guards. Interestingly, the local media was not allowed to accompany Sasikala and she had brought her own media team from Tamil Nadu.

This morning, she visited Sri Chamundeshwari Temple. Here too, she was closely guarded by the security personnel.

While the security had a tough time in controlling the crowd that was vying for a selfie with their leader, cries of 'Chinnamma' (Sasikala is addressed like this in TN) rent the air. Later, her convoy proceeded to Nanjangud.

Preferential treatment case

Sasikala was sentenced to four years in prison in a disproportionate assets case on Feb. 14, 2017. She was released from Central Prison in Bengaluru in 2021. In 2017, former Deputy Inspector General (Prisons) D. Roopa had flagged the special treatment granted to Sasikala, and had released pictures of a pressure cooker and vessels in her cell. She had also claimed that Sasikala was allowed to wear civilian clothes instead of clothes meant for prisoners.

An inquiry committee report on the directions of the State Government had shown that Sasikala was provided A-class facilities even though no instructions regarding such provisions had been given. In December, Karnataka Govt. had sanctioned the prosecution of the accused and a charge-sheet in the case was filed on Jan. 7 this year.

Apart from Sasikala and Ilavarasi, ACB had named certain jail officials in the matter. During yesterday's hearing, the Special Court for the Prevention of Corruption Act ordered Sasikala and Ilavarasi to pay a bond of Rs. 3 lakh. The two were asked to appear before the Court on April 16 again.

City gets Karnataka's first Tribal Museum

Rs. 9.95 crore project to be inaugurated today evening at Kergalli; to protect, pass on unique tribal culture

The new building of Karnataka State Tribal Research Institute (KSTRI) which will be inaugurated in city this evening by Minister of Tribal Welfare B. Sriramulu.

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (BCT)- The City of Palaces and Museums has got one more museum — a Tribal Museum — adding a new feather on its cap. The Karnataka State Tribal Research Institute (KSTRI) has set up Karnataka's first Tribal Museum at Kergalli and the facility will be inaugurated today at 3 pm by the Minister of Tribal Welfare and Transport B. Sriramulu. District Minister S.T. Somashekar and other dignitaries will be present.

Along with the Museum, the new office of KSTRI, an arm of the Karnataka State Tribal Development Department, will be inaugurated in the same building. The KSTRI is presently located at a private building behind Jagadamba Petrol Bunk in Kuvempunagar.

The KSTRI Office will be a State-level one, Director Rajesh G. Gowda told Star of Mysore this morning. "Usually, Bengaluru will have all the State-level offices. The Government has decided to have Mysuru KSTRI as the head office as there is a considerable population of tribals in Mysuru, Chamarajanagar, Kodagu and Udupi," he added.

Rajesh G. Gowda, KSTRI Director

Former Mysuru Urban Development Authority Commissioner S. Palaiah had allotted nearly two acres (5,168 sq. metres) of Civic Amenities (CA) plot in Treasury Employees Layout behind Christ Public School, near Kergalli.

The total built-up area is 2,840 sq. metres including basement, ground floor, first floor and second floor. While the Centre has pooled in Rs. 4 crore, the State Government has contributed Rs. 5.95 crore, taking the total building cost to Rs. 9.95 crore.

The main components of the building are the Tribal Museum, library, training room, 140-seater auditorium and administrative and research wings. While the basement is 764 sq. metres, the ground floor, first floor and the second floors are 692 sq. metres. The construction has been undertaken by Murthy Infrastructure.

Distinct culture needs protection

There are over 50 tribal communities in Karnataka alone and the museum will showcase the culture, tradition and lifestyles of various tribal communities. Though many tribal communities have switched to living in small towns and semi-urban areas, there are some communities that have still safeguarded their hamlets inside jungles even in the face of displacement.

The tribals have distinct cultures and traditions, and many of them have kept their customs unharmed. However, the rich culture and ethnicity needed to be properly documented by conducting research. It is essential to decipher their customs and introduce them into society in the form of books so that future generations could be aware of tribal civilisation and the museum and KSTRI will strive in this direction.

Some of the familiar tribal communities in the Mysuru region are Siddi, Soliga, Koraga, Hakki Pikki, Yerava, and Jenukuruba. The KSTRI has involved archaeology and anthropology professionals and also tribal community people to make the museum authentic and also interesting.

Indoor and outdoor exhibits

The museum will host exhibits both indoor as well as outdoor and will have a digital library of other tribal museums set up by the Union Tribal Welfare Ministry across the country. KSTRI sources said that the exhibits include a collection of traditional songs, documentation on the various celebrations of the communities and their day-to-day life experiences.

Tribal artefacts like hunting weapons, kitchen utensils and musical instruments, agricultural implements, bird trapping instruments, necklaces made of beads, daily use materials made of bamboo and wood, grinding stones — which are still used in rural households — their hut models, clothes and ornaments made of wild seeds, wooden pieces and shells will be on display at the Museum.

The KSTRI library has a collection of more than 4,000 books on research methodology and on anthropology, sociology, economics, political science, health and medicine, linguistics and human genetics related to tribal studies for the benefit of research scholars and others. After the building is inaugurated today evening, the museum and the library will be set up in phases.

DC takes banks to task for delay in Micro-credit loan sanction

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (MTY&DM)- Taking Bank officials to task for high rate of pendency of applications in Banks pertaining to approval of Micro-credit to small entrepreneurs, Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. Bagadi Gautham questioned some banks for the inordinate delay in the disposal of applications. The DC was addressing the District Level Review Committee (DLRC) meeting of District Lead Bank at the ZP Hall here yesterday.

The irked DC warned to close the accounts of various Government Departments in some private banks in case they fail to implement the welfare schemes launched by the Government by offering loans to various sections of the society.

Pointing out that there were over 1,000 applications pending in Banks, out of which HDFC Bank alone accounted for a majority of applications, Dr. Bagadi Gautham rebuked the bank officials for the delay in even releasing Rs.10,000 loan extended to street vendors.

When the DC raised a few queries on the reasons for delay, the response was either silence or a standard reply from the bank representatives that the issue will be brought to the notice of the higher authorities. He reprimanded them for attending the meeting without any preparation.

The DC questioned the Karnataka Gramin Bank representative on the reasons for rejection of loan applications of beneficiaries of various State and Central Government schemes.

Cautioning the Banks against any undue delay in release of loans, Dr. Bagadi Gautham warned that he would be forced to order closure of Bank accounts of various Government Departments, bodies and agencies, if the banks continued with their negligent and non-cooperative attitude.

He further said that he would write to the RBI on the pending of applications at Banks concerning advancement of loans under PM-SVANidhi scheme (PM Street Vendors Atma Nirbhar Nidhi).

Taking Karnataka Bank officials to task for their failure to release loans, the DC pointed out that farmers were staging protests in front of the DC's office for lapses in release of loans and extension of other benefits.

He also came down on the Bank for forcing the customers to credit a minimum of Rs.1,000 even for zero balance accounts.

He questioned Banks on why they were seeking security for Kisan Credit cards and why they were refusing to link Milk Dairy accounts of farmers.

P. Gopinadha Sastry, AGM, Lead Bank, Mysuru, RBI District Manager Tanu Nanjappa, NABARD District Development Manager T. Venkatasubbaiah, ZP CEO B.R. Poornima and other officials were present.

Kannada Book Mela records Rs. 3.85 lakh business

Mysuru, Mar. 12 (PM&DM)- The discount sale of Kannada books, organised by the Kannada Book Authority at the sprawling Maharaja's College Ground, has been a success as many book-lovers are visiting the Mela for buying books that are up for sale with discounts ranging from 20 to 50 percent.

On the first day on Thursday, when the Book Mela was launched, the publishers did a total business of Rs. 1.35 lakh and on the second day yesterday, it improved further to Rs. 2.50 lakh, totalling a business of Rs. 3.85 lakh.

More than 30 private publishers and publications division of various Government Departments, agencies, bodies and Universities are taking part in this Mela, which concludes on Mar. 15. Kannada Book Authority Chairman Dr. M.N. Nandeesh Hanche said that this is the second such Book Mela being organised in Mysuru.

Pointing out that the first one was organised at the same venue of Maharaja's College Ground in 2011 when poet Dr. Siddalingaiah was the Chairman of Kannada Book Authority, he expressed happiness that the first two days of the Mela has received a good response with book-lovers visiting the stalls in large numbers.

The cultural events organised on the evenings of all days too have proved to be a hit and a good number of people are flocking the venue for purchase of books of their like, which are available in thousands.

K.N. Lingappa, a former KAS officer, said that the Book Mela has a large collection of books. Observing that the Mela should have had a wider and varied collection of books, he said that, however, the Mela gives ample choices for readers to pick up the books of their liking.

University of Mysore Prasaranga Deputy Director Dr. B.S. Anilkumar said that the University has put up books under over 800 titles. Maintaining that there is a good response for the Prasaranga stall, he said that a total of Rs. 22,000 business was done in the first two days of the Mela and they are hoping that the business may pick up further in the next four days, with Saturday and Sunday being Government holidays.
